

New Supply Co. Comes to Geneseo

John McIntee of Honeoye, the new owner of Neff Lumber Yards on Court Street, Geneseo, plans to open for business what will hence be known as the Lake Country Industries. There are two other building supply outfits run by Mr. McIntee, also called Lake Country Industries, one in Canandaigua and one at Honeoye Lake. A new store will be built to house a large variety of builders hardware and supplies. Mr. McIntee became interested in Geneseo for location of one of his stores for two reasons. First, because it is centrally located between his other two stores and second because Geneseo has been so poorly serviced with building materials for such a long time. Because he buys in such a large volume, it is expected that many things will be available for a lower cost than had previously been offered in the area.

Edward Blacken, assistant manager of the Canandaigua Store will assume managership of the Geneseo branch, moving his family to Geneseo in the near future.
